Recital of
15 C. II. c. 7. § 4.

AND whereas by one Act of Parlyament in the fifteenth yeare of his Majestyes Raigne Entituled An Act for the encouragement of Trade. It is declared That inasmuch as his Majestyes Plantations beyond the Seas are inhabited with his Subjects of England for the maintaining a better correspondency betwixt them, and keeping them in a firmer dependence upon it, and rendering them yet more beneficiall and advantageous unto it, in the further employment and increase of English Shipping and Seamen, vent of Woollen and other manufactures, rendering the Navigation to and from the same more safe and cheape, and makeing this Kingdome a Staple not onely of the Commodities of those Plantations, but alsoe of the Commodities of other Countreyes for the supplying them (it being the usage of other Nations to keepe their Plantation trades to themselves) It was therefore enacted That noe Goods or Commodities of Europe shall be carryed into any the Plantations of Asia, Africa or America, but what shall bona fide be laden and shipped in England and in English built Shippes, or Shippes made free and navigated with English according to an Act of Parlyament on that behalfe; And that noe Officer of the Customes in England or Wales shall give any Warrant, or suffer any Sugar, Tobacco and other Plantation goods therein perticularly named to be carryed into any other Country or place whatsoever untill they have beene first bona fide unladen in England, as by the said Act doth more at large appeare.
